

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an image processing apparatus, when the image quality is adjusted, an image before performing an adjustment operation, a default adjustment image and an image to be adjusted are simultaneously displayed, and images of the same video source are simultaneously displayed by a multiscreen display according to a multiscreen synthesis function in order that the image quality adjustment operation can be easily performed.

10042231 011102